

(10 pts) Go to the Maple website (<http://www.mapleapps.com/>) and find an application that interests you. Work through the application (execute the Maple worksheet), then write a brief description of what the application does and how Maple is used to help find the results. List either a new Maple command or a new sequence of Maple commands that you learn from this application. (Write this summary in less than 2 pages.)